THE SONGS WE SING

Sometimes we are asked "How do you choose the worship music?" The songs (and their theology) used in our worship services is taken very seriously. We review every song to make sure it is theologically sound, lines up with our doctrine and teaching, and is Christ-centered. However, we recognize that some writers of the music used may themselves differ, or attend churches, or have ministry associations that differ from us theologically. Our elders recommend you use discernment in following artists and the churches they attend. If you have questions, please don't hesitate to ask as we can share specific concerns if requested.
